

American Red Cross

On Monday, September 12 and Tuesday, September 13, Norwood Public School will be holding an official Red Cross Babysitting Training Course. The class will be held in the evenings from approximately 6-9pm in the APR. This class is open to all students above the age of 11.

This is a wonderful class to take that will give you great leadership and role modeling skills for young children. You will not only learn how to set up good behavior practices but also know what the desired behaviors are for different developmental stages. You will also be introduced to safety related problems and how to prevent them, as well as how to recognize an emergency.

This highly recommended program is a terrific asset to have if you are ready to babysit. Any parent will feel comfortable knowing that you have completed this course.

Should you need more course information, please feel free to contact Joe Sullivan, the Bergen County Red Cross Representative at sullivanj@redcrossnj.org or 973-797-3304. If you need more information about the class being given at school, you can contact Samantha Fruhling at SFruhling40@verizon.net.
